

Danville Penna

Apr 15th '89.

Gentlemen

I do not know to whom this should be addressed, but judge "The Mint" will be sufficiently comprehensive. I would like some information or method of obtaining information concerning valuable coins. I have two short lists, but I find they do not agree as to dates or values. Of course I know some of the very rare coins like the 1804 dollar, but there are others of medium worth, which are more likely to find their way to one's purse. For instance, is an 1840 quarter without-arrows, of any special value. one of my lists quotes 1852 without-arrows much above par.

as an 1811 dollar?

I will be grateful, for anything
you can tell me, as to know of some accurate but inexpensive list, particularly of American coins.

Respectfully Yours

Miss Aggie A. Reed.

In what year was the dollar now
in use coined?

Danville, Pa.

April 5, 1889

Aggie A. Reed.

Asks information concerning valuable Coins.

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 156

[Abstract:] Asks information concerning valuable coins.

Danville, Penna.

April 15, 1889

Gentlemen

I do not know to whom this should be addressed, but judge the Mint will be sufficiently comprehensive. I would like some information or methods of obtaining information concerning valuable coins. I have two short lists, but I find they do not agree as to dates or values. Of course I know some of the very rare coins like the 1804 dollar, but there are others of medium worth, which are more likely to find their way to one's purse. For instance, is an 1840 quarter without arrows, of any special value, one of my lists quotes 1852 without arrows much above par of an 1811 dollar?

I will be grateful for anything you can tell me or to know of some accurate but inexpensive list, particularly of American coins.

Respectfully yours,
(Miss) Aggie A. Reed

In what year was the dollar now in use coined?